

The Dragon and the Two Bunnies

By Dev Rama

Stormwool and Hop

Two bunnies were having a picnic on a rainbow cloud. Then a huge dragon came. The bunnies screamed as loud as they could. The dragon snuggled them up and said "I'm not a scary dragon, I'm a Nice Dragon".

The bunnies hopped onto the dragon's back and he flew them through the air to his dragon cave and he brought the picnic basket with him.

Dragon cave

All of the other dragons stared at the bunnies.

The nice dragon said "Don't breathe fire on them. They're my friends"

The bad dragons moved into different places and then the Queen Dragon came forward.

“Who do you got here?” she asked.

“There are my two bunny friends, Stormwool and Hop”.

“How did you know our names?” asked the two little bunnies.

The Nice Dragon said “I spied on you one one time and saw your mum and dad naming you when you were babies.”

“Stormwool and Hop, you may visit our cave whenever you like with your big friend The Nice Dragon.”

The Queen Dragon jumped over the bunnies picnic basket and returned to work.

The Nice Dragon

Stormwool and Hop put their picnic basket onto the Nice Dragon's back and climbed back on.

The Nice Dragon flapped his wings and flew them down to their home. The bunnies opened their door and their families said “where have you been”

“We have a Nice Dragon friend”

“Come inside and we will talk about it”

Stormwool and Hop were excited to tell their family all about their big adventure.

The Sun

The End.